

Its main audience is law-abiding members of society, strengthening social solidarity.

Crime and punishment are normal and necessary features of social life, with forms of punishment reflecting the type of social solidarity.

