Intensive kinship and societal 'complexity' predict distinct punishment types across 60 societies

Zach Garfield[1,*,†], Grégory Fiorio[2], Anna Kaneko Ebert[3], Sophia Iben El Rhazi[1], Catherine Molho[4,†], Francesca De Petrillo[5,†]

[1]University Mohammed VI Polytechnic, [2]Ecole Normale Supérieure-Université de Paris, [3]Vrie Univeristy, [4]Toulouse School of Economics, [5]Newcastle University

*Corresponding author,†Senior authors

Intensive kinship and societal 'complexity' predict distinct punishment types across 60 societies